PROJECT OVERVIEW

Designed for a modern conference room for the NEC, this project required a full removal of the existing flooring, wall cladding, suspended ceiling, tea point and all electrical supplies including a roller shutter to the existing tea point.

This was a fully comprehensive project. There was a variety of bespoke joinery throughout this space including the bench seating, wall paneling with built in lighting and a new bespoke tea point.

PROJECT OVERVIEW

Alongside the internal works we also installed a new glazed entrance and screens.

As this space opens up to a small balcony, we also included some external works such as external faux plants and planters.

Due to the purpose of the space we worked with the client to ensure the acoustics of the space was suitable. We installed various types of wall cladding throughout as well as recessed ceiling rafts with lighting spaced in between to make a full feature of the ceiling.
