Office Fit Out Project Overview

Bourne Publishing Group jumped at a chance to relocate to a small village outside of Grantham when the chance arose.

The former farm buildings were converted to a high specification ready for a fit out for the new tenants. BPG engaged aci to space plan and fit out the new spaces with furniture and frameless glass partitions to create informal offices and meeting spaces.

Freestanding frameless glass partitions were chosen due to the exposed Oak trusses of the building, making full height partitions difficult to integrate into the design.

A minimum manifestation scheme was applied to keep the open feel and maintain the views over the open countryside.

Customer Comment

ACI shared our vision from the initial meeting yet also made some valid recommendations through their experience.

They delivered our project ontime, within budget and accommodated some last minute changes. The end result is a working environment we are very happy with.
